SATURDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 12.

A MAD BULL'S WORK.—Clarence Showers, aged 85 years, a wealthy farmer of Strattonville, Va., was buried on Sunday at that place. Saturday morning he went to Wilson McKee's farm, a mile distant, to fetch to his own farm a five-year-old Jersey bull owned by McKee and himself. The bull was an ugly one, and was handled by means of a stick five feet in length fastened to a ring in the animal's nose. As soon as Showers took the bull from the stable it began to make vicious lunges at the farmer. The stick saved Showers from the animal's horns, until one furious lunge broke the stick in two. Showers succeeded in seizing the end of the piece of stick left hanging to the ring, and also retained his hold on the other piece. He managed to keep the bull at a safe distance by pushing on the ring, at the same time pushing the animal over the head with the club, hoping to subdue him. Two small boys, children of Farmer McKee, were present, but they were so frightened that they could not run for help. Finally the bull made a mad plunge forward, wrenching the ring stick from Showers' hand, and rushing upon the helpless farmer thrust one of his horns full length into his body. The bull threw the impaled man into the air, hurling him backward a distance of twenty feet. Then the enraged animal rushed upon Showers' torn and bleeding body, and for half an hour gored and trampled it. The boys at that time had summoned help, and the bull was driven off. Showers' body was an unrecognizable mass. The bull was shot. Showers leaves a widow and three children.

Life in the Paris Sewers is possible, for a short time to the robust, but the majority of refined persons would prefer immediate death to existence in their reeking atmosphere. How much more revolting to be in one's self a living sewer. But this is actually the case with those in whom the inactivity of the liver drives the refuse matter of the body to escape through the lungs, breath, the pores, kidneys and bladder. It is astonishing that life remains in such a dwelling. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery restores normal purity to the system and renews the whole being.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Many of our countrymen have been misled by the false promises of the "Cure for Croup" and "Cure for Whooping Cough" and other similar nostrums. The only reliable remedy for these diseases is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a powerful expectorant, and it is the only remedy that will cure these diseases in the most rapid and reliable manner. It is a powerful expectorant, and it is the only remedy that will cure these diseases in the most rapid and reliable manner. It is a powerful expectorant, and it is the only remedy that will cure these diseases in the most rapid and reliable manner.
